NEWSPAPER MEN NOT ADMITTED.

But Those Inside Say the Execution of the Death Sentence was Successful... The Mode of Killing Criminals by Electricity Not a Failure if they are to be Believed.

SING SING, N. Y., Dec. 7 .- Martin Loppy, the wife murderer, has paid the penalty of his crime in the death chair. The signal, a black flag indicating that he had been put to death was hoisted on the flag staff over Warden Brown's house at 12:08.

According to Warden Brown, the execution was carried out the same as at the time of the killing of the four men in the same chair in July last. The warden refused to give any information except to say that the law had been carried out, and that the execution of Loppy was a success. Loppy was attended in his last moments by Chaplain Low, of the Tombs prison, and Chaplain Edgerton, of Sing Sing prison.

The little procession started for the death chamber. Warden Brown and Keeper Connaughton led the way, directly ahead of Loppy, who had to be led by the keepers through the dark passage way on account of his partial blindness.

As soon as Loppy arrived in the execution room he was promptly placed in the chair and strapped so that he could not move head, hand or foot. While this was being done the expert physicians and other persons present were grouped about the room in a semi-circle.

The electrodes were then applied to the condemned man, one covering the forehead and temples and the other the calf of the right leg. The electrodes were moistened with a solution of salt water before the current was turned on and at intervals afterwards. Captain fillbert, who was in charge of the death machinery, had the dynamo running and everything was ready for turning on the current. As the signal was given to the man at the switch-loard to turn on the currents Drs. McLandy, and Rockwell stood near the chair with watches in their hands to time the respiration and the beating of the heart. None of the witnesses would reveal how Loppy died. It is understood that 1,485 volts were used, the same as at the July execution, and that a current of that voltage was continued from fifty to sixty seconds. the July execution, and that a current of that voltage was continued from fifty to sixty seconds. As soon as Loppy was pronounced dead, the straps which bound his body were removed and the dead murderer was carried into the apartment directly off the execution room where an autopsy was hold under the direction of Drs. McDonald and Landy, after which Loppy's remains were placed in a rough pine collin and some time after sundown this evening the collin was borne on the shoulders some time after sundown this evening the colin was borne on the shoulders of four convicts to the little cemetery on the hill within the prison grounds and placed in a grave filled with quick lime, along side of the graves of Wood, Slo-cum and Jugiro, who were executed last summer.

THE NEW FRENCH TARIFF.

Jules Ferry Defends the Protective Policy, Are the Poor of America Badly off:

in Standard, Nov. 24. M. Jules Ferry delivered a speech vesterday before the French senate in defense of the general tariff bill. He spoke of a free trade policy in France is a fraud and a gigantic illusion. M. Ferry said: "It was a sop thrown to England when France took Savoy and Nice. All France got for it was ten years later that league of neutrality which tied the hands of her friends while the Germans were invading her. England knew what she was about when she promised the emperor that France was to be her granary. France, alas, is nobody's granary but her own. It has been said, she prospered under the emperor's commercial treaties. No; she did so in spite of them. There is a great gulf now fixed between 1850 and 1891. England alone had then a plant and a practical monopoly. All the nations now have plants and none of them wants any other to have a monopoly. France does not take the lead as a protectionist state. Italy began in 1883 and Belgium and Sweden followed. The movement has now spread everywhere. It is the negation of the government. Ferry said: "It was a sop thrown to

The movement has now spread every-where. It is the negation of the gener-ous illusion of the men of a generation fast passing away who saw in free trade fast passing away who saw in free trade a means of cultivating brotherly feeling among nations, pacifying Eurone and getting rid of standing armies. Who in France would dare to follow the English example of throwing ports wide open? France has sacrificed to manufactures two-thirds of her agricultural industry, and reduced by a third her wheat culture. What, therefore, has she to exchange with other nations? M. Tirard owned that a treaty of commerce with England could not be concluded. No more could one with Italy. There is a treaty with Germany—Article XI of the Frankfort treaty. America has taken reprisals befored. Article XI of the Frankfort treaty, America has taken reprisals beforehand. Russia's friendship is precious, but it must not be on a commercial basis, as Russia is becoming fast a great industrial nation. No. France has in policy but to keep at home and with her doors closed. French tariffs are the most liberal of any, England calls herself a free trader, but she protects her farmers from those of she protects her farmers from those of Normandy under the pretext of exclud-ing diseased cattle." M. Ferry treated as a fable what M. Challemel-Lacour said of the general tariffs being a tax of 232,000,000 a year on the poor for the good of the squirearchy. Were the American poor badly off? he asked; and why did the continental poor flock there? Yet the United States had had there? Yet the United States had had protection for thirty years. As to being isolated—well, isolation was a begey. France was threatened with an Austro-German zollverein. Well, let the two Emperors make it if they could. Ferry hoped they might get it. Since France had shut out Italian products it was not she but Italy who suffered.

Your rheumatism may be bad; we will admit it to be very bad, and that you have expended a great deal of money for medicines and treatment without receiving much benefit; but remember that others have suffered even more, and yet been permanently cured. No case of rheumatism can be so bad that Chamberlain's Pain Balm will not ease the pain and help it, and hundreds of cases that had long been regarded as incurable have yielded to the soothing effects of this great remedy.
